

“Unravel the mysteries of life, you will be one with Siva”

At times we feel that we have lost something, but could not make what it is. We yearn for something, but don't know what it is. We may be having all our material comforts, our loved ones love the same way they are doing and there may not be any change in our daily routine. Yet, we feel lonely in the midst of people, a kind of vacuum. Know then that your longing is not for mundane; you are looking for the Love of the Lord who can only fill your heart with the abundance of His Divine Love.

What am I searching?
With parched lips, empty heart
Ohh, my Lord and Love

~Rama